

Joining the Bird Id Xchange

March 10th 2008

To join the Bird Id Xchange :-

- Click on the “Join” tab.
 - Specify a login name
 - Specify your email address (this must be a valid active email account)
 - Retype your email address (this protects against mis-spelling)
 - Select your time zone from the drop down list
 - Click the “Join now” button
- The email account specified will receive an email, typically within a few minutes. This email will contain a system generated password and two links.
- Please use the “Sign in” screen (the login link in the email will take you to that page)
 - Enter your login name
 - Copy the password from the email into the password field
 - Tick or un-tick the automatic sign in box. (Note if you are using a shared PC you should un-tick the box.)
 - Click the “Sign in” button
- Please amend your password to something more meaningful, the password change screen can be accessed from the “edit profile” tab or via the second link in the email.
- Please read the Forum rules document

Welcome to Bird Id Xchange – enjoy.....

Changes to this document

Please note that this document may change from time to time. Each version of this document will be identified at the top of the page by its effective date, and we will also keep prior versions in an archive for your review.

If you have any additional questions, please feel free to contact us by email (BIXAdmin@birdid.org).